

Changing the world

G3 Communities

Getting 'there' from 'here,' The amazing things I see for this world...

First and foremost, I believe that John Lennon's Imagine is a blueprint for the world to come, which I call heaven (on earth).

What form will our communities take in the future? There will be no monetary system. Everyone will have access to everything in whatever quantity they need. All products and services will be first rate. There will be no such thing as 'planned obsolescence.'

There will be no duplication of services and everything we need will be available locally. In each community will be great clothes-makers, shoemakers, carpenters, culinary experts of every kind. Each and every night we will have the opportunity for a great dining experience and entertainment if that is our choice.

Trust will be implicit as sin is gone from this world. Every person's motive will be for good. As such there is no need for lawyers, notaries and the like. Our bodies will be Glorified and Eternal, as such there will be no need for medical services of any kind.

There will be no countries, provinces or states. As such, all governments at all levels will cease. There will be one World Government led by Jesus Christ from Montreal. There will be no need for laws as morality and great ethos are the rule of the day. People will not have to be told what to do, they will know what to do.

Educational systems will be much more experiential. Focused on connecting each person to all the wondrous things about the planet, universe and man's creative spirit. Every person will be engaged in pursuing the burning desires of their heart, be it music, dance, acting, painting, sport, fashion, culinary, etc.... They will be living their dreams daily, always reaching, always achieving - a continuous, upwards and never-ending spiral through the infinite levels of heaven (on earth).

Every home will be filled with evocative art pieces, great music, great simple to prepare food, the best of everything from appliances to home entertainment to furniture. Each home is designed expressly for the inhabitants and suits them to a 'T' because God knows their wants, needs and likes better than they know them themselves!
