

About Me - Things I will not change

The vast majority of the things I include here have to do with my spiritual journey and the fact that I know that God is watching over me.

- I do not shower every day.
- I do not brush my teeth every day.
- I don't always change my shirts and shorts every day - and sometimes I sleep in the same clothes I wear on the street.
- I am very punctual. Lateness really bothers me.
- I sleep very little (4-6 hrs/night) and am an early-riser.
- I will not lock my apartment or car doors.
- I need you to read my letters and emails to you - always and promptly. I need you to use your laptop and not rely on your cell phone 100% of the time.

The results

- I am always clean and respectable looking despite the above.
- I will love you and Chris as you have never been loved - and forever - for eternity.
- I will do everything in my power to provide the life we both dream of for all of us. I know that God will conspire with us on this.
- I will always tell you my thoughts - verbally - but mostly through my writings - much of my thinking is at a different level - far removed from the cares of this world. My goal in relaying all this to you is to take you on the same adventure I am on - and to allow you to see life through God's eyes - after all you are Norah Jones!

God's Great Plan for us

- We will be together forever - and share the love you dream of.
- We will have every great thing that They (Noel and Norah) have prepared for us. Homes, children, cars, travel, family close by (including those who have died)
- Our lives will be a symphony of success and enchantment. We will travel to every corner of this world and watch on as Heaven grows across Earth. Then we will travel across all of New Jerusalem (1500 level each of which being 1500 miles wide by 1500 miles long). Then we will travel across this universe - and then to other Parallel Universes. This is my story - Come Away With Me. The ongoing story of the life of Ross Harvey.

I love you and Chris with all my heart - Nat - and look forward to this day as the beginning of an epic story.