

Dearest Nat,

I wanted to send you this last letter in order to tell you my real feelings - rather than to have you surmise them.

I think you are the most amazing young lady I have ever met, Nat. You are super-intelligent, talented, creative, caring and focused on doing good in this world. In the very brief time I have known you you have opened up my world in ways I could never have imagined and you have done the same for others - like Gary.

With my eyes and heart of faith - I can see your path forward - and it is a wonderful one! We may not have worked out - but - I hope that our very brief - very intense relationship has demonstrated to you that there exists great hope and potential for you - with respect to finding a love match who will love and care for you and Chris the way you deserve to be loved and cared for.

You know my mind goes into places that the very vast majority of people do not understand or even care about (Parallel Universes/Determinism...). While I don't think that in this Universe you may end up with Salman Khan or Jason Momoa or Jon Cena or David Beckham or Tom Cruise or any number of others who you dream of - this is your fate in other realities - and you will be able to experience every one of them in your reality!

But in this reality I wanted to mention something. I know you said something about not being interested in going out with black men - but Sebastien from The Depot - seems like a really great guy - and it is very apparent that he likes you! He has a great job - is very good looking and seems to be a wonderful human being. Keep an open mind - and heart!

I have told you from the outset that I will always love you and Chris - and that is the truth - no matter how you treat me moving forward. I will always pray for great things to happen for you two - and know they will! This is because moving forward every day I am growing into my position alongside Noel and Norah - and taking my place as God - the third member of the Holy Trinity. So don't be surprised when great things happen to you - you deserve every one of them!

All my love,
